Baseball Season Ends

Elks Lose To Calgary In League Semi-final

Vulcan Elks, fighting right down to the last pitch, dropped the deciding game of the Foothills-Wheatbelt League semi-fina series against the Calgary Dodgers in Calgary last Friday evening. The issue was in doubt until the last man was out, with the Dodgers winning by a narrow 6-5 margin.

In the other semifinal series, Granum White Sox eliminated Picture Butte Indians and the Calgary-Granum series now being played will decide the league championship.

After losing the opening game of the series 5-14, Elks bounced back on their home grounds last Wednesday to swamp the Dodgers 12-2. Chuck Dailey was the winning pitcher, relieving Doug Marquardt in the fourth.

Catcher Augie Scornaienchi was the big hitter for the winners as he belted out three safeties, scored four times and drove in two more.

Itch Horton also pelted Calgary pitching for three safeties while Ron Loughin and Don Jantzie each drove in two runs with timely singles. Elk Jim Houck blasted out a bases-empty homer.

Dailey and Marquardt allowed ony five hits with Dailey giving up four of them. The Elks committed six errors afield but saw Calgary commit four in an inning less.

In the bottom of the fourth, Elks smashed the game wide open as they dented home plate six times before being finally stopped by relief pitcher Gord Knutson.

The final game at Calgary was a real thriller. Dailey went all the way for Vulcan and Don Kirk was the winning Calgary pitcher.

Dodgers took an early lead as big Marty Hurd homered one with Bassen on base, but Vulcan came back and loaded the bases as Norman walked, Jantzie got a single. Alvarez walked and Ron Loughlin lined into right field for a hit that scored. Norman and Jantzie. Totland and Hurd drove Calgary ahead again with home runs, but Elks got one run back in the fifth with two walks, Houk's single and pair of sacrifices. In the seventh Elks got two more runs on a single by Horton, a double by Norman and a double by Jantzie. In their half of the seventh, Dodgers got what proved to be the winning run.

Vulcan scared the Dodgers in the ninth as Scornaienchi and Horton both got on with singles and Mart Norman's drive over the fence was foul only by a few feet. Alvarez was passed to load the bases and Ben Dann flied out to centre to end the game.

Scout Jamboree "Wet But Very Interesting"

4 Warbank Close,
New Addington,
Croydon, Surrey.

The Advocate,

Today we packed up camp and ended one of the best but wettest jamborees ever. So many special events happened that one letter couldn't nearly explain them all.

We went on several tours, among them one to Sheffield. We were taken around the city and saw the steel foundries and factories. The Duke and Queen visited the camp and we were very lucky to have them pass by our camp site.

I went to Warwick Castle where we were taken on a conducted tour. This is one of the finest castles on all England and contains many fine works of Rubens, Raphael, and Van Dyke. Also there is a collection of armour which was the last outfit worn by Cromwell.

Actually most of the time in camp is taken up by just walking, talking, swapping and taking pictures.

Apparently back home the papers played up the fact that we had some heavy rain. We had to exacuate two tents but it really wasn't much. For the last half of the jamboree it rained every day off and on but even this didn't seem to dampen the scouting spirit of the camp.

One thing that is really nice over here is the hospitality of the people. Canadians really have a good reputation because all we have to do is march down the street in a tour and dozens of people line the roads and cheer.

I haven't met any people yet who don't go out of their way to please us.

I must close off now,

Jay Scott.

Regular Committee Meetings

Further Financial Aid For Prospective Teachers

Information has been released from the County Office at Vulcan that the School Committee has adopted a policy of assisting bursary students with further financial aid by way of repaying loans. It was pointed out at the meeting held on Monday, Aug. 14, that there are one or two bursary students who require financial assistance to attend the teacher training school in Calgary and the committee authorized assistance according to the individual needs of the applicant.

For the past number of years, the County of Vulcan has cooperated with the Department of Education in supplying a $300 bursary to prospective teachers. This amount has been an outright grant to assist high school graduates to obtain a teaching certificate. The new financial assistance just announced by the County is in the nature of a loan, to be repaid after the teacher commences teaching on the County staff.

County Councillors held their August meetings on the regular days this month and dealt with mostly routine matters. At the School Committee meeting, Committee members interviewed the van drivers in respect to obtaining new vans and arranging other van routes. The Committee approved the purchase of two teacherages at Carmangay, and passed resolutions to provide furniture in one or two of the other teacherages. Committee members also reviewed the amount of salaries being paid to school janitors and made some adjustments.

A motion approving the hiring of a new janitor at Champion was adopted, and also the hiring of a new full time repair man to look after the repairing and renovating of the schools.

At the County Council meeting held on Friday, Councillors passed a resolution to advertise the Reid Hill School, Blind Creek School and Mossleigh Schools for sale and also the Alston teacherage.

Councillors also approved an application for a service station to be built on the west side of the highway adjacent to the Village of Champion.

WHEAT WAR?

Will Canada try to lick the U.S. at its own wheat disposal game, asks The Financial Post's Washington correspondent?

The U.S. Department of Agriculture is plenty worried he reports, as it realizes that Canada's Tory government may go into competition with Uncle Sam on "special deals" to get rid of surplus wheat.

For Washington to be worried about what Canada is going to do on surplus wheat is a decided switch from the complacent opinion formerly prevailing in the U.S. capital, he adds.

Traffic is Canada's third worst killer, surpassed only by heart disease and cancer.

IN MEMORIAM

HOWERTON—In loving memory of mother, Anna Howerton, who passed away Aug. 22, 1943.
They say time heals all sorrows
and helps us to forget,
But time so far has only proved
How much we miss you yet.
God gave us strength to take it
And courage to bear the blow,
But what it meant to lose you
No one will ever know.
—Fondly remembered by the Howerton Family. 3-1p

IN MEMORIAM

MARSHMAN—In loving memory of a dear wife and mother, who passed away Aug. 20, 1941.

With joy we will meet her there.
—Ever remembered by her loving husband Ed, daughter Ruth, and sons Jack, Bob and Bill.

WAYS TO BE FREE

I liked the story of the Irishman, shipwrecked off a foreign coast. When he struggled to shore his first question was, "Who's the government here?"

On being told, he stuck out his chin and said, "Well, I'm agin it!"

We must have a government and we must have law and order. But government are composed of men and women (too few women) no better than you or I. They are not saints, they are not Solomons. They can make very grave mistakes. They need watching.

Governments are dangerous when we let them grab too much power. They can use this power to get re-elected, and that is a rather strong temptation often yielded to.

I often wish governments would get back to governing, and get out of all the other things they've stuck their noses in. I've never known them to succeed in any business, unless they had an iron-clad monopoly — and most of us don't care much for monopolies, government or private. I wish they'd stop trying to care for the social welfare of those of us who are capable of caring for our own — and if they must engage in welfare, let them concentrate on the minority who need help, instead of the majority who have votes.

I know a woman who has been a great believer in the benevolence of our government for years. The other day she had to cash one of the few remaining $1000 government bonds her husband had left to her. She got quite a shock when she found out that she could only get something like $880 for it. She wishes her husband had put his money in the common stocks of some good private industry. She's not so fond of governments today.

The best government is the least government. I'd like to see taxes cut in half and government enterprises cut in half. I'd like to see governments give up the notion of handling our cultural lives — because I've seldom met a truly cultured politician, though I've met a lot of them.

I venture to say that the first government to give up some of its powers and restore those powers to society would win overwhelming support from a public which has at last discovered that the government really hasn't a single free service to anybody — we pay through the nose for all of it. Our eyes have been opened at last!

Brenda and Susan were dressed in blue and yellow printed nylon respectively with matching velvet bandeaux trimmed with bows and flowers. Their colonial bouquets contained yellow marguerites and blue bacheor buttons.

Richard Williams, cousin of the groom went from Ensign, to be best man and another cousin, David Ruark, ushered with Peter Lopatecki. N. J. Wishart of Regina, proposed the toast to the bride at the reception. Mrs. Belle Duncan and Mrs. Beth Lopatecki, aunts of the principals presided at the urns,

Later the young couple left for a honeymoon motoring to Vancouver Island and south to California. For travelling the bride wore a blue wool dressmaker suit with navy picture hat and accessories and a strand of pearls, a gift off the groom. On their return Mr. and Mrs. Finlayson will reside in the Ensign District for a short time before going to Winnipeg where the groom is an instructor on the staff of the University of Manitoba.
